Rival Party Chairmen Duel At Long Range

By The Associated Press
DEMOCRATIC and Republican national chairmen argued foreign policy at long range Thursday.
Democrat Paul M. Butler said in a speech for a Jefferson-Jackson dinner at Salisbury, Md.:
"Communism has gained new footholds under the Eisenhower administration, because foreign policy is not a matter that can be worked out on a part-time basis."
He said communism took over in Viet Nam and is "creeping" into the Middle East, and added:
"There is no leadership from President Eisenhower on these pressing world problems."
On the Republican side, chairman Leonard W. Hall said in a speech for a GOP fund-raising dinner in Sarasota, Fla.:
"No administration has ever worked more diligently and faithfully for the establishment of a just and honorable peace."
Hall said "the over-riding issue in this presidential campaign will be the peace and prosperity achieved by the Eisenhower Republican administration."
In other political developments: Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said at San Francisco that his victory over Adlai Stevenson in the Minnesota Democratic presidential preference primary had brought him support from voters elsewhere, who had been neutral or opposed.
Kefauver predicted there will be a great difference between the 1956 and 1960 Democratic national conventions. Kefauver entered the 1962 convention with strong support from state primaries, but lost the nomination to Stevenson who hadn't entered any of them.
Kefauver was doing some early work yesterday in California, in preparation for the state's June 5 primary, when 66 convention votes will be at stake.
In Washington, Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) described the Minnesota primary returns as evidence of a farmers' revolt that is going to extend to every other farm state.

Speed Transit System Under Delaware Latest Proposal

PHILADELPHIA, March 22 (AP)—A 242-million-dollar high-speed transit system that would go under the Delaware River to connect Philadelphia with South Jersey was proposed today as the future answer to crowded traffic conditions.
The Delaware River Port Authority disclosed details of the plan drawn up by the engineering firm of Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Hall and MacDonald. The report took 19 months and $325,000 to prepare.
The plan envisages—by 1962—that residents of South Jersey could come and go to Philadelphia via a tube that would be tunneled beneath the Delaware. It is estimated that travel time would be cut in half.
In New Jersey the ultra-modern, air-conditioned stainless steel trains, capable of traveling up to 70 miles an hour between stations, would be above ground, generally following existing railroad right-of-way.
In Philadelphia, passengers would be transported via a subway that would terminate in center city, at Arch Street—a block from the present Market St. Subway that connects with Camden at 8th Street but goes over the river, not under.
Chief idea of the plan is to eliminate thousands of automobiles now used by commuters, and which are creating more crowded—and more hazardous—traffic conditions every day.
The 242-million-dollar figure is an estimate on construction costs only. It does not include a figure of 50 million dollars that would be needed to finance the project over the 5-year period during which it would be built.

Mamie Guest At Party

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower had a birthday party today—delayed more than four months but "one of the most wonderful birthdays I've ever had."
"It certainly did tear my heart strings," she added somewhat ruefully to several hundred women who celebrated with her.
Pictures
At one point during the nationally televised "To Mamie With Music" luncheon-festival, the First Lady put her forefingers to her eyes to hold back tears that glistened in the spotlight playing on the head table in the Willard Hotel ballroom.

Lenten Meditation

Rev. Gray G. Walker
Little Bethel A.M.E. Church
DURING LENT Christians should be moved to repress unholy aspirations and give themselves wholly to spiritual things.
This does not mean that holy living is seasonal, but it ought to awaken us to the realization that carnal affections must die in us so that we might live unto Christ. If we fail to do this, we deprive ourselves of grace which He gives so freely.
Nothing can be compared with Christ. He is valued above everyone and everything. To count things less

Leader Fails To Rule Out Future Levies

HARRISBURG, March 22 (AP)—Gov. Leader said today increased taxes authorized by the Legislature may not be enough to finance extensive pay boost plans now before the lawmakers.
"All pay raises, including the judges, legislators, members of the executive branch and school teachers, would face a rather difficult future unless more revenue becomes available," he declared.
Leader told his weekly news conference that he would not rule out asking for new or additional taxes if he found that the newly enacted tax package featuring a 3 per cent sales tax failed to yield enough money.
He said the estimated tax revenues would "leave us very very short" in meeting appropriations contemplated by the Legislature. Asked whether the difference could be as much as 100 million dollars, he replied:
"It could be that high."
At the same time, he endorsed a proposal by the House Democratic leadership to tie a graduated income tax into a plan to pay a 150 million dollar bonus to Pennsylvania veterans of the Korean War.
Recalling that a 440 million dollar bonus for World War II veterans was authorized in 1949 without an accompanying tax program, he said it is now costing 67 millions every two years to pay for it.
"It taught us the lesson—that we are not going to make the mistake that was made in the Duff administration," he referred to U. S. Sen. Duff who was governor when the World War II bonus was paid.

Mansfield Lashes Out At Foreign Policy

By Gardner L. Bridge
WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) challenged the administration today to produce "new and better ways to meet the Soviet threat" than the foreign aid program presented by President Eisenhower Monday.
Mansfield lashed out at this program as sadly lacking in "positive, constructive suggestions" and "more of the same old medicine" as Secretary of Dulles began a rapid round of conferences in defense of administration policies.
Dulles, who returned last night from a 19-day tour of 10 Asiatic countries, will follow up his reports to Washington officials with a radio-TV broadcast to the American people at 10:30 p.m. EST tomorrow night.
Optimistic View
The secretary gave congressional leaders of both parties what they later described as a temperately optimistic view of conditions in the Far East, combining some improvements over the past with prospects of trouble ahead.
Administration planning got a big boost from Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, commander of NATO forces in Europe, who said he is "absolutely certain that we shall prevent a third world war," if this country continues to furnish "dynamic leadership," and if the North Atlantic Treaty Organization retains its unity.
Gruenther appeared before the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which is now considering Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid program for the 12 months starting July 1.
He was followed at an afternoon closed-door session by Dulles, who reported privately to the National Security Council after briefing 22 congressional leaders at a White House meeting with Eisenhower.

Italian Girl Wins TV Prize

ROME, March 22 (AP)—A rare Italian platinum blonde beauty who knows all about soccer football won her many TV fans again tonight. She won the next to top prize on the Italian equivalent of "The $64,000 Question."

Hearing Set Today
SCRANTON, March 22 (AP)—The Lackawanna County Court will conduct a hearing tomorrow on the motion of City Solicitor James W. McNulty to appoint a co-receiver for the Scranton Transit Co., which is now being operated by Harry Weinberg, Baltimore, Md., as receiver.

Social Security Hit With New Administration Fire

By J. W. Davis
WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—The Eisenhower Administration argued today that proposed Social Security changes, especially affecting women and disabled persons, would cost the taxpayers too much.
That was one of several reasons advanced by Security of Welfare Folsom in testimony to the Senate Finance Committee, against a heavily backed bill that would:
1. Provide retirement benefits for women at age 62, instead of 65.
2. Provide cash benefits to the

Democrats Decide To Go All Out For High Price Supports

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Democratic leaders in Congress decided today to go all out for higher price supports in the farm bill despite hints of a presidential veto.
They appeared to be encouraged by big Democratic vote piled up in Tuesday's presidential primary vote in Minnesota. The farm issue is red hot there, though there is an argument between Republicans and Democrats as to how much the issue influenced the voting.
After a talk with House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.), Senate Majority Leader Johnson of Texas announced the Democrats will insist on boosting the price level at which the government now supports basic crops.
Rayburn also declared that House Democrats are "still for 90 per cent of parity and that's what we're going to stand for."
Flexible
The Eisenhower administration wants to keep the flexible support system under which it is supporting crops at from 75 to 90 per cent of parity, and seek to help the farmers in other ways. Administration leaders contend higher price supports will only result in bigger farm surpluses, and that this will tend to depress market prices further.
Widely differing versions of an election-year farm bill have been passed by the Senate and House. The differences must be ironed out by a Senate-House conference committee.
Johnson said he was confident the committee would recommend high-level supports. He added in an interview:
"I predict that the revolt farmers put on in Minnesota is going to extend to every other farm state."
Reminded that Eisenhower has called the Senate version of the bill "unworkable" and "unsound" and hinted that he would veto any farm legislation reaching his desk in the same form, Johnson said:
"That's the President's responsibility, and as far as I am concerned he can exercise it without threats from Congress."
The Senate measure provides for increases in the support levels of all major crops but, unlike the House version, it doesn't call for a full return to the 90 per cent of parity levels which existed during World War II.

Transport Workers Vote To Strike Against PRR

PITTSBURGH, March 22 (AP)—The Transport Workers Union today voted to strike the Pennsylvania Railroad system March 29 in a dispute over the PRR's layoffs of maintenance workers.
The action was taken at a meeting of presidents of 52 TWU locals representing maintenance workers from New York to St. Louis.
Conference
Andrew J. Kaelin, TWU national vice president and coordinator of the railroad division, reported the union met with the company three weeks ago and received a promise the TWU would be notified on any changes the railroad intended to make.

Depot Case Gains Support

SCRANTON, March 22 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted a Scranton wholesale druggist on charges he sold narcotics without keeping proper records.
The druggist is Edward Berger, of the Scranton Drug Co., who allegedly sold the narcotics to an East Scranton retail store.
The jury indicted also Joseph A. Lombardo of Carlisle for allegedly passing together the halves of a $1 and a $10 bill to form two fake $10 bills.
Theft
Catherine Milardi, of Hazleton, was charged with theft of a $214 treasury check from a mailbox.
U. S. District Judge John W. Murphy accepted the jurors' findings and sent them back to their deliberations with the remark that they may be in session for some time. This gave support to reports the jury is looking into irregularities in the construction of the Army's Tobyhanna Signal Depot.

Miss Lucy To Marry

DALLAS, Tex., March 22 (AP)—Miss Catherine Lucy is going to get married but she is not giving up her fight to re-enter the University of Alabama.
HARRISBURG, March 22 (AP)—Sen. Yosko (D-Northampton) said today that records of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission showed that almost a quarter of a million dollars was paid in legal fees by the commission in a seven-year period.
"It would appear from the financial records of the commission that the organization was operating a patronage mill," Yosko said.

Boycott Leader Found Guilty

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 22 (AP)—The first of the Negro bus boycott leaders, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., was convicted today. Defense attorneys immediately began an appeal that may lead ultimately to the U. S. Supreme Court.
King, 27-year-old pastor of the Dexter Avenue Baptist church, was fined $500, plus $500 court costs for violation of Alabama's seldom-used antiboycott law for his part in the 17-week-old boycott against segregated city buses.
Sentence
The fine and costs were converted into a jail sentence since he chose to appeal rather than pay the money. He was sentenced to a total of 366 days.
The sentence was suspended, however, after Negro defense lawyers served notice of appeal. They have said they will take the appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court if the state appellate courts uphold the conviction.
Circuit Judge Eugene Carter, presiding over the trial in the absence of a jury, could have fined King $1,000 and added a six-month jail sentence under the state law.

Railroad Official Raps Eisenhower's Highway Program

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—W. P. Kennedy, a railroad union leader, said tonight "the public is due for a rude awakening" from the Eisenhower administration's federal highway program.
Address
In an address prepared for the annual dinner of the Federation for Railway Progress, Kennedy said the program is being presented as a means for reducing traffic congestion. But, he said the money would be spent "not in the towns and metropolitan areas where congestion occurs" but on intercity "freightways" to be used by the trucking industry.
Kennedy is president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Serov Flies To London

LONDON, March 22 (AP)—Ivan Serov, boss of Russia's secret police, flew here today in a fast Soviet jet airliner to check security arrangements for the forthcoming Bulganin-Khrushchev visit.
Indignant editorials in London newspapers called him a "thug" and "jackal."
But the stocky, tanned Serov, flashing the Kremlin's current "Let's All Be Friends" smile, appeared blithely unaware of the editorial outcry.
Successor
Successor to the executed Lavrenty Beria as Soviet security chief, Serov last month was promoted to the rank of general of the army.
The airliner which brought Serov to London is a sweepback-wing jet capable of carrying 50 or 60 passengers. It was given a place of honor on the airport apron but no one was allowed to go aboard.

Dairy Industry Sets New Goals

PHILADELPHIA, March 22 (AP)—"Enough but not too much milk" and as favorable a price as possible to consumers must be the goals of the dairy industry, representatives of 11 states in the New England and Middle Atlantic areas were told today.
J. O. Eastlack, formerly of the Borden Co. New York, told the opening session of the two-day Northeastern Dairy Conference here that producers could cut their costs considerably by inaugurating twice-a-week deliveries.

Cohen Instructs Writers Club On Various Technique

MEMBERS OF THE POCONO Mountains Writers Workshop meeting on Wednesday night at the home of President John M. Price, listened to an address by Lester Cohen of East Stroudsburg RD 1. Cohen is author of "Sweepings" and other popular novels as well as magazine articles.

The speaker, who is a figure in American letters at the present time, delighted and instructed his audience.

At the close of the session he and Mrs. Cohen invited the club members to meet at their home at an early date. The invitation was enthusiastically accepted and the date of Wednesday, April 18 set for the session.

President Price was not present at the meeting, having been called to Washington, D. C., to testify before a congressional committee on pending legislation important to paraplegics, and Joseph Kushner presided.

Mr. Cohen greatly pleased his hearers by his easy conversational style and his mastery of the writer's art. He touched on fundamentals of story writing and made many terse and graphic allusions.

In terms of straight analysis he touched on the basic qualities of such classicists as Balzac and de Maupassant and in the American field on Theodore Dreiser, Thomas Wolfe and Edward Lee Masters. He paid a glowing tribute to the poetry in Spenser River Anthology and speculated on Masters' mental set in "Toward the Gulf" especially to the poet's reference to Abraham Lincoln.

In the course of his hints on the art of fiction writing, he said that the writer must make his material interesting to the reader or the story is doomed. The writer should, at all times, give his own material the strictest kind of editing and, while he will have to deal with special traits or incidents he must always make the special general in its scope.

That, he pointed out, takes hard work and more than a little luck. He emphasized that writers must always be able and ready to give something out of their knowledge or their experience to their characters.

Among his aphorisms were the

Environment
Careful delineation of environment is necessary but vision is supreme. Differentiate at all time between characters and pseudo-characters.

The speaker, while fully acknowledging the skill of Hemingway and Faulkner said they were not too strong in his favor as he regarded them as fragmentary writers. Summing up he said that the writer is entrusted with the present day phase of the most ancient art, the art of communication, the ancient and honorable telling of tales, the first and greatest form of communication evolved by the human race.

Keystone Shortway Expected To Promote Pocono Mountains

Delegation From County At Meeting

A SPOKESMAN for the Pocono Mountains resort industry yesterday called construction of the Keystone Shortway between Sharon and Stroudsburg a great step in the right direction toward promoting business in the entire region between the two cities.

Speaking as part of a delegation sent to a Williamsport meeting by the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce and the Vacation Bureau, Harry Ahnert stressed the fact that the highway would cut travel time between the two points drastically and would greatly benefit the Poconos.

The Pocono delegation was headed by Clifford Cramer, chairman of the highway committee. Others attending were John Crandall, Pocono Manor; Ahnert of The Fernwood and W. Adolph Rake, East Stroudsburg.

Cramer said the group decided to retain Dr. Edward Strong and his associates at Pennsylvania State University to conduct and perform a survey projecting the amount of industry to be attracted to the area by the proposed Shortway.

The Keystone Shortway Turnpike Association is now interested primarily in urging the Turnpike Commission to get a feasibility report completed, Cramer said. The report would show whether or not the Shortway would prove economically and strategically sound.

Cramer said Thomas H. Levering, now mayor of Stroudsburg, and a relative of Dr. William Levering, Stroudsburg, attended the meeting and met with the Stroudsburg delegation.

A former Stroudsburg man—Harold Swenson, former executive secretary of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce—attended the meeting as a representative of William R. Davlin, State secretary of commerce, Cramer said.

Rubes Shows Quality In Tough Numbers

By Leonard Randolph

JAN RUBES, a bass-baritone, was heard in recital last night at State Teachers College auditorium. It was a program, I thought, which was curiously uneven in quality even though ambitious in taste and variety.

More curious than anything else, it seemed, was the fact that Rubes was very good in two of the more difficult things he chose to sing and not very good at all in a couple of the less taxing numbers.

In Franz Schubert's immortal "An die Musik" I thought the quality of Mr. Rubes' voice was at its best—smooth, sensitive and soft. His first selection, the aria "Il Lacerato spirito" from Giuseppe Verdi's opera "Simon Boccanegra", was beautifully done. So, for the most part, were "Le Cor", Alfred de Vigny's imaginative setting of a night hunting scene and the "Boris Godunoff" death scene, although in the latter the singer seemed to be straining a bit for the higher notes and was uncertain on the lower ones.

Being a bass-baritone may be a trifle unenviable to a man, anyway. Halfway up the register and equally halfway down, it may be that a bass-baritone often does not know which direction to turn. Uncertainty was one of the more evident qualities in Rubes' performance last night, it seemed to me.

Most Obvious

This was most obvious in the popular concession the singer made to his audience. "Wagon Wheels" was the best of the three, but it was wavering and shallow of tone. Mr. Rubes had a couple of bad moments in "The Rag Man" and more than a couple in Richard Rodgers' "Some Enchanted Evening."

His accompanist, Paul McIntyre, provided a bright interlude with two of his own études and a Chopin scherzo; both beautifully played. And the accompanist was excellent throughout.

Mr. Rubes' saving grace, I'm sure, so far as audiences are concerned is the folksy and joshing mood in which he introduces his numbers. There's little denying the man's charm and good humor.

But jokes add little to the performance of music, if anything. Once the joke is over and the audience has chuckled you're faced with the same old order of business: you've got to sing.

This Mr. Rubes did last night. In some of the numbers he did it quite

Police Begin New Schedule

STROUDSBURG police will be working under a new assignment schedule now that three members of the force have been "furloughed" and rehired by the borough as parking meter attendants.

Former Patrolmen Loren Doty and Jack Haas began their new jobs yesterday. And the third man, Gaylord Heberling, said last night he'll report for work as a meter attendant at 9 a. m. today.

The changeover, it is understood, will necessitate the following changes in the police assignments:

Swenson To Direct State Travel Bureau

HAROLD A. SWENSON, until recently executive director of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau and executive secretary of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce, Stroudsburg, has been named director of the Vacation and Travel Development Bureau of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce, Secretary William R. Davlin announced yesterday.

In making the announcement Mr. Davlin stated, "We are deeply pleased that Mr. Swenson has joined us to head up that portion of the Department which relates to building up the travel and vacation business in the Commonwealth."

Key Role

"Mr. Swenson has had a large part in guiding, and the key role in executing, the varied promotional activities of the nationally famous Pocono resort industry, Pennsylvania's best developed tourist region. His intensive experience there now becomes available for promotion of tourist travel in all the regions of Pennsylvania."

"The goal of the Department's program is to insure Pennsylvania her full share of the American tourist dollar. The role of the Bureau is necessarily one of cooperative action supplementary to the work of private firms and organizations in the tourist industry. However, we want first and foremost to build carefully a practical and imaginative program that will reflect the best thought of all concerned... including the various agencies of state and local government."

"In searching for an Executive Director who could measure up to the task and opportunity of this assignment, the Department sought suggestions from the various branches of the tourist field. Several able candidates were interviewed before a final decision was reached. This process covered several months of screening and the result is our choice of Mr. Swenson."

"He is a young man, convinced of the state's great tourist potential and alert to the kind of promotional program that is needed. We believe that our tourist and travel promotion program can mean new jobs, payrolls and business opportunities, for Pennsylvania has as much or more to offer the tourist in scenic beauty and historic sites than any state in the nation."

Snow Removal From Borough Streets Should Be Accomplished With Alacrity

Thanks to a bright sun and some belated work by borough crews, the heavy snow cover is gradually disappearing from streets of the twin boroughs.

In recent years, following the purchase of modern snow-removal equipment, the streets of both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg were cleared of heavy snowfalls within a few hours after the storms ceased.

Last Friday and Sunday, a total of 12 or more inches fell in two storms. But for some unexplained reason, there was no fast clean-up of snow in the parking meter areas, and a number of streets in the residential districts were not plowed.

Eisenhower's Foreign Aid Message Fails To Spell Out Specific Needs

President Eisenhower's long-delayed foreign aid message to Congress is a disappointment.

It fails to recognize the need for a thorough reappraisal of the foreign aid program. It says in effect: more of the same.

It is devoid of a new idea that might capture imaginations.

It concedes that the Soviets have moved into the economic field with a major challenge in Asia, the Middle East and Africa. And it properly states that "we do not intend to permit specific Soviet moves to control our activities." Yet the whole tone of the message is a kind of patchwork—merely looking around for holes to plug against Soviet offensives with new emergency funds and vague long-range authorizations.

Nowhere in the message, for example, is there mention of a single specific project which would require a 10-year commitment, general authority for which the President asks.

George Sokolsky Says...

Abstention From Voting At Times May Be Best Citizenship Against Bad Politics

It comes up every time there is an election. Somebody hammers the drums and the tambourines to get out the vote.

That used to be the job of the politicians, to ring doorbells, to provide transportation and in my childhood, even to pay $2 or $3 per vote.

Today, the get-out-the-vote business is a public enterprise, engaged in by worthy citizens who proclaim themselves non-partisan. The idea is to make the citizen who abstains from voting ashamed of himself, even though his conscience might bother him if he voted because he felt he could not choose between two demagogues or two men of low moral character, or two crooks, or two bums.

Of course, one can be fashionable, go into the voting booth, stay a few seconds, come out again after having made a noise like voting. Under such circumstances, one can vote or not vote and yet avoid having an accusing person on television ask, "What kind of an American are you?"

In my State, it often happens that it is impossible for a conscientious American to make a choice. For instance, we may in 1956 have as candidates for the United States Senate, Herbert Lehman on the Democratic ticket and Jacob Javits on the Republican ticket. I could not vote for either. It would worry me to know that I cast a vote to help perpetrate either of these men. So if they run, I shall not vote for a United States Senator.

It has been said that I am wrong, that good citizenship requires that I should choose between the lesser of two evils. That to me is a sin. If they are both evil, we should avoid them both. What happens here in New York must happen in other parts of the country; that is, the politicians of either party select candidates for public office who, to certain voters, are unsuitable and therefore the voter has no choice. Just as no voter may be physically coerced to vote for anyone, so he ought not to be mentally coerced by any type of social pressure to vote for a person just because he is constantly told on radio and television that to abstain from voting is bad citizenship. Under certain circumstances, abstention may be the best kind of citizenship. It is a moral resistance to bad politics.

There was a time when it was possible to vote for Norman Thomas as what was called a protest vote. The idea was that as Thomas could not possibly be elected but was a decent, reputable person, a vote cast for him would not elect him but would annoy the politicians. How much such voting annoyed the politicians, I do not know. I should imagine that it amounted to very little. However, Norman Thomas no longer

Can it be that the boroughs do not have sufficient labor forces available to handle the multiple jobs of cinderling, plowing and snow removal?

Or did someone "goof" in not ordering enough men on the job soon enough?

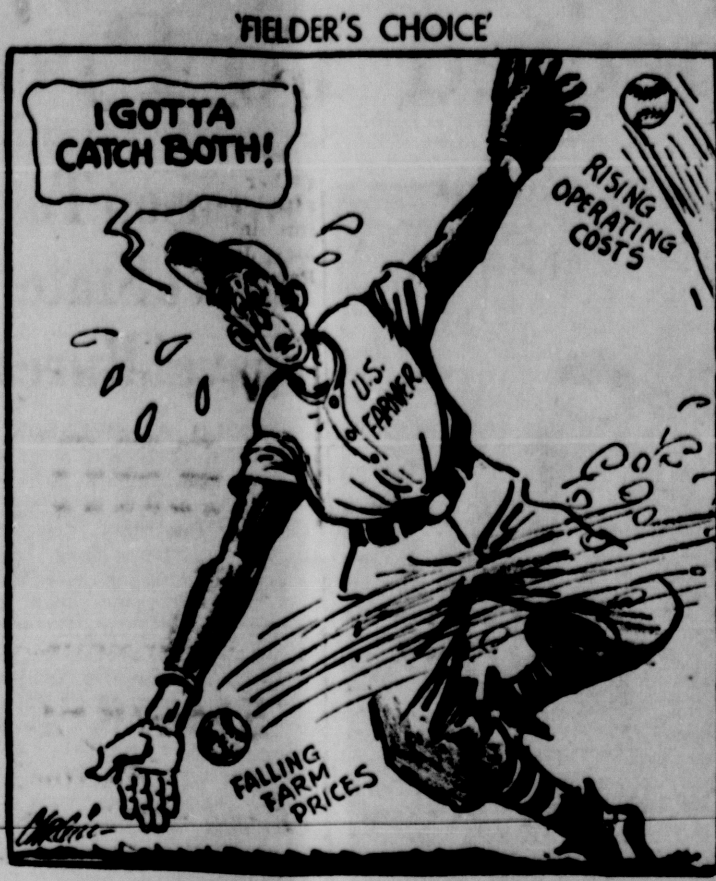

Whatever the reason, immediate steps should be taken to correct the situation before the next heavy snow arrives so that motorists and pedestrians alike will not have to push through deep snow-banks as they go about their separate ways. Both boroughs have access to adequate equipment to cope with any but the heaviest of snowfalls, so there can be no excuse for not putting it into use when the occasion demands.

The Administration would have been wiser to have initiated now a re-examination of the aid program. Since it has not—

It is up to the Senate and House committees to insist on a review of what the United States has done in this field, an honest explanation of where we stand now, and detailed proposals for the future.

On the President's request for $1,859,975,000 in foreign aid appropriations, it should be borne in mind that nearly 85 per cent is for direct or indirect military aid. Only about 750 million dollars is for development assistance, technical co-operation, various special presidential funds and other miscellaneous aid programs. It is in those fields that the Soviets have sharply challenged the Western world to competition.

The United States can afford a foreign aid program of the size President Eisenhower requests. But it can't afford a dime unless it is reasonably assured that the money will be spent wisely—not frittered away on either worthless projects or ones that boomerang.

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE Make Up Your Own Jokes And Overpower Listeners

Do people shun you at parties? Are you the perennial wallflower sulking in a corner while some expert storyteller reaps a harvest of laughs? A harvest, incidentally, reaped right out of Benet Cerf's joke book or maybe from a TV comedian.

Don't stay in that corner another minute, laughing at the jokes of others when you could be telling your own stories. And don't snitch them from anybody. Make up your own. Then when you ask "Say, have you heard the one about...?" you won't be as apt to receive the storyteller's doom. "Yeah, I heard it."

The art of telling jokes is based on a few simple rules. First, capture attention quickly. Interrupting someone is perhaps the quickest way. Just as another speaker is about to deliver his punch line, break in fast. Should he be allowed to finish, should his yarn be funnier than the one you are about to tell—okay, don't let it happen.

Next, hold listener's attention at all costs. A good loud delivery interspersed with your own laughter is one method. But to rivet ears and eyes upon yourself, stand close enough to inflict a sharp poke in the listener's ribs when ludicrous blonde or hors d'oeuvre tray bid fare to divert your audience.

Last, (and contrary to other advice) don't cut the story too short. People who are spineless enough to listen to other's people jokes for any length of time are usually a bit slow on the uptake. Quite often they miss the point, or they don't think it's funny. They need background, detail and side issues galore. Hold forth until you have exhausted every mile of wordage at your command.

Never begin, "There was this Irishman named Pat, etc. . . ." That has no suspense, no characterization, no third dimension.

Here is your opening: "Sure and there-re was this Irishman named Sean MacTavish O'Halloran from fair County Cork whose mither-r was a bonny lass of a colleen (bonny lass being the Scotch touch necessary to account for MacTavish). . . ."

A judicious poke in the listener's ribs might warn him that just here the story is gaining momentum.

... and he was a thirstin' for a drop of the grape. He says to his pal, Casey Michael McGillicuddy from County Kildare likewise located on the Emer-r-ald Isle, he says, he says . . . Now this was really a gem of a story. Sidesplitting. Had 'em rolling on the floor the last time I told it. Too bad the rest of it escapes me. Anyhow, it was a cork-ker. Have you by chance heard the one about the Scotchman named Mike O'Flaherty MacDougall? Well, sure and there-re was a bonny lad of the clan MacDougall, and . . . Heard it, eh?

Have you heard Harry Hershfield's story of the day Mr. Mandelbaum went into a ritzy delicatessen and asked for the price of caviar? He then wanted the current quotation on puts, pickles, and lebkuchen. Suddenly he spotted a big ham. "How much is that?" he asked, but the words were no sooner out of his mouth, than the building was shaken by a terrific clap of thunder. Mr. Mandelbaum turned ashen and looking up implored, "Honest, believe me: I was only asking!"

Even Abraham Lincoln didn't always succeed in what he was trying to accomplish, but he seldom failed to admit his occasional failures. Robert Yoder recalls that he had one story that helped a lot at such times. It concerned a farmer who was confronted with a tree stump too big to pull, too wet to burn. "I'll tell you how I got rid of it," the farmer explained, "if you won't divulge my secret. I plowed around it."

Robert S. Allen Reports

17th Air Force Unit Now Near Middle East Region

Washington, March 21—The U. S. is taking another highly significant military measure in the war-periled Middle East.

The 17th Air Force is being shifted to within 300 miles of the inflamed area.

This unpublicized action by the Air Force follows on the heels of the Navy's announced dispatch of a battalion of tank-armed Marines to the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

The 17th Air Force commands all U. S. air units in the Middle East, including bombers, fighters and transports. The headquarters of the 17th is being shifted, from its three-year-old base at Rabat, on the Atlantic, in French Morocco, to Dhuelus Field, at Tripoli, on the Mediterranean, in Libya.

This extensive eastward move is of three-fold significance:

Greatly increase the operational range of the 17th's jets over the explosive Arab-Israeli region.

Eliminate the drastic limitations on the number and size of 17th's combat units that the French imposed at Rabat. At the Tripoli base, 17th can be reformed in all air categories.

Directly counters the new diplomatic and military front Russia is opening in strategically-vital Libya, lying between Algeria and Egypt. The 85-member embassy the Soviet has set up there includes three MIG-15 pilots who are veterans of the Korean war and the ambassador who was kicked out of Australia in 1954 following the disclosure of a Red spy ring.

Note: Commander of the 17th is Major General Frederic E. Glantzberg, Springfield, Mass. A 1927 graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, he was commissioned a pilot in the Air Corps in 1929, and commanded a Bomber Group in Italy in World War II.

Getting Set—Pentagon authorities have informed congressional leaders that the purpose of shifting the headquarters of 17th Air Force to Libya is to expand both its strategic and tactical fighting power.

It is explained that this is urgently essential for two reasons: The extremely critical Arab-Israeli crisis, and the vast area that's been assigned to the 17th.

That is now greater than the ancient Roman empire in this section of the world. 17th Air Force's command now includes all of southern Europe, the Mediterranean islands, and all of the Middle East, plus Pakistan. This greatly-expanded jurisdiction puts under 17th's command the recently-established U. S. air units in Greece, Italy and Turkey.

The move of 17th's headquarters to Tripoli is stressed as particularly important because that will do away with the drastic limitations the French imposed on U. S. air strength in Morocco. The U. S. has a $500,000,000 airbase complex in Morocco, with major strategic bomber bases at Sidi Slimane and Nonasseur. But the French have persistently balked at permitting these crucial bases to be adequately garrisoned.

An Air Force report on this serious problem is in congressional hands. It also reveals that budget slashes have played a major role in this situation. This unpublished report discloses that the construction of one base had to be dropped, and troop strength had to be reduced. Following are publishable highlights from this document:

"As a result of the Air Force's austerity budget, one proposed base had to be cancelled and provisions for three bases under construction had to be drastically curtailed. . . . The Air Defense Communication Center was retained but on a greatly-reduced basis. . . . Manning difficulties also resulted, which necessitated sizable cutbacks in over-all troop strength."

"The French placed a number of limitations on U. S. forces and operations. A ceiling of 5,000 personnel was fixed for each base, which constitutes an increasing handicap to the implementation of missions. Negotiations to obtain relief from these restrictions have been of little avail. . . . The 17th Air Force has had to improvise to meet its commitments. Personnel and units have had to be rotated and training seriously curtailed."

PP Rates Two Special License Plates

By Jim Riley

Have you seen the man about Monroe County who appears to be going and coming at the same time? One of those here he is, there he went follows.

The guy in mention is Roderick MacLeod, photographer of this here now Daily Record.

Reason for the confusion that Mac has been causing in recent days is the fact that he has two license plates. You know, one of those fellows who travels in select company.

The story on the special treatment of the old photo is that Pennsylvania's present government has made special license plates available to press photographers—not one but two plates.

Not only do the press photographers have plates both in front and to the rear, but the number is prefixed by two giant Ps.

PP could stand for Politics to Pedestrians or Pocono Publicity, but it doesn't. It stands for Plain Press Photographers, a hard working guy who must retain his good humor, calm manner and a tight schedule while traveling to the far reaches of the area to record on film the many events which occur daily.

"He's got his plate on the wrong end of the car" is a common statement made by folks who see Mac coming toward them. "No he doesn't," is the usual follow up as the same person takes a look at the plate securely fastened to the back of MacLeod's car. "Who's he?" "How does he rate?" "I don't get it," are other outbursts heard from time to time.

But, it's alright folks. The guy's within the law and just a member of a professional group who has turned the camera into a means of saving we reporters up to 10,000 words of writing.

So, when you see a maroon car drive into sight with two license plates, not one like we common folks, it is The Daily Record photographer, PP254—that's our Mac.

March 20, 1956
Mr. Merle C. Ostrom,
Vice President,
Pocono Record, Inc.,
Stroudsburg, Pa.
Dear Mr. Ostrom:

Another Christmas Seal Sale has come to a close. As we take inventory of our one yearly fund raising campaign it is most gratifying to the members of the Board of Directors to note the number of volunteers throughout the county who show evidence of real interest in the program by offering their services from September to the middle of November. The preparations for the mail sale campaign are done by volunteers with the exception of the special typing which has proved more economical to be done in our office.

Whatever publicity is planned it is lost without the cooperation of the newspaper and radio. On this score we are most fortunate. The Record has given space to pictures, cartoons, editorials and daily informative news items, not only during the campaign, but throughout the year. The Tuberculosis eradication program is kept before the public.

We are aware of the high standard of reporting of news items regarding health and welfare in our county through the media of newspaper and radio. To us, this is an important source of health education and it reaches groups that we cannot contact.

In our small community we appreciate the high caliber newspaper and radio service. Just to say thank you for the fine cooperation of your newspaper editorial staff and the radio broadcasting staff seems a small way to show our appreciation, but it is a most sincere thank you.

Respectfully yours,
ESTELLE L. FLEMING,
Executive Secretary
P. S.—Will you please convey this message to Mr. Ottaway?

Editor, The Daily Record
Stroudsburg, Pa.
Dear Sir:

Our beloved neighbor, Miss Edith Canfield, left us this morning, and her going leaves a great big hole in our lives. She was a wonderful neighbor and a wonderful friend and above all a wonderful person.

was a joyful privilege to sit with her and look out at the countless birds who came to her windows and knew her as their friend.

She was an inspiration to me in so many things, it is hard to select one. I loved her quality of growing spiritually and reaching out for an ever better understanding and living of life. Some time ago she was told that she must "give up worry," as she put it. "Now you know that's a hard thing to do," she told me, "when you have a habit of it." But she did it, to a remarkable extent, a great achievement—"better is he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city."

DINNER IS SERVED. At Wyckoff's store party for long-time customers last night, large, long table filled aisle halfway across tearoom and halfway to front door. Nearly 100 customers attended.

Unfinished March For 'Promised Land Of Human Dignity' Began In Passover Season

By George W. Cornell
Associated Press Staff Writer
NOW COMES the Passover season—and therein lies a tale of tall men.

It goes way back to the time when man first squatted his shoulders, and demanded in words that have cannondomed down through the centuries:

It was a wild, original notion then, counter to all civilization's long-accepted systems of slavery. It was the first great uprising against the institution of human bondage.

Man stood at a new height, refusing to kowtow any longer.

He had begun what is termed by Dr. Abraham J. Feldman, of Hartford, Conn., president of the Synagogue Council of America, as the long, still-unfinished march for "the promised land of human dignity."

Celebrating this event, the weeklong Passover observance begins at sundown Monday when Jewish families sit down for the candle-lit "Seder"—a meal of worship and story telling and song.

It starts with a prayer: "Praised art thou, O Lord our God, ruler of the universe, Out of love Thou didst give us . . . seasons of joy and this . . . our festival of freedom."

There are symbolic foods, and psalms and devotions and laughter on this occasion, but mostly, there is the telling of a story—the "Haggadah"—the passing on from father to son of an ancestral lesson in liberty.

It is the oldest, continuously kept ritual in the world, maintained for more than 3,000 years as set down in the Scriptures:

"And it shall be unto you a memorial . . . by an ordinance forever . . . It shall be a sign unto thee . . . that the Lord's law may be in thy mouth; for with a strong hand hath the Lord brought thee out of Egypt."

Dr. Maurice N. Eisendrath, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, said the observance "is a reminder that the work which Moses began is still not completed. Pharaoh of old was overthrown, but, even in the 20th century, tyrants still embitter the lives of God's children."

So, through the years, the old story has resounded again and again. It is stamped deep in the chronicles of American freedom.

Palm Sunday To Launch Holy Week

PALM SUNDAY is the first day of Holy Week, and a day on which Christians hail Christ, as their King. Palm Sunday receives its name from the distribution of palms to commemorate the day that Jesus Christ was hailed as King upon His entrance into Jerusalem by having palm strewn in His path.

Catholics will solemnly manifest their faith in the Kingship of Christ at the 11:30 a.m. Mass at St. Matthew's Parish. All who wish to participate in this demonstration are asked to arrive at the church at 11:15. Palm will be distributed at the door and blessed before the 11:30 Mass begins.

Honored Guest
Since procession is one way that human beings use to welcome an honored guest and demonstrate allegiance to His cause, a procession by the congregation carrying the blest Palm will then follow outside the church. Since red is a regal color, the priest who walks in procession will wear a red cope, which is further intended to emphasize the royalty and majesty of Jesus Christ as King.

Monroe County Wool Growers Reminded Of Applications

WOOL GROWERS ARE reminded to get their applications for payment under the wool program in the mail before May 1, 1956, if they want to get their incentive payment this year. The reminder comes from David H. Griffith, chairman of the Monroe County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

According to the chairman, wool sales made after March 31, 1955 and before April 1, 1956, are eligible for payment this year provided the application for payment with the necessary supporting information is in the mail before May 1.

Warning
Wool growers are urged to be especially careful about providing the required sales record when submitting applications. The sales record for shorn wool must show name and address of buyer, date of sale, name and address of producer, net weight of wool sold, and net proceeds to producer after normal deductions.

Those who market lambs and yearlings for slaughter must provide

Market Hits Record High

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Strong pivotal stocks sent the market up today to a new record high.

Strength was well distributed but chiefly lodged in the steels, oils, and railroads.

Gains of 1 to 3 points were frequent, and some were quite extensive. Southern Railway, for instance, shot ahead 6½ at 121½. Losses were small and not particularly concentrated in any one area.

Long Series
Today's high record is another in a long series of records. On Tuesday the market was at a high point, and then yesterday it slumped when a handful of blue chips backed down abruptly.

Today at the start there was considerable hesitancy as though the market intended following through with its previous decline.

Steels were up, however, and they soon were joined by the radio-televisions in a mild rally that improved the entire tone of the market. The oils later joined the steels in heading the advance as the radio-TVs turned quiet.

Late in the day the railroads shot ahead as the eastern and western roads made plans to ask for a 5 per cent increase in basic passenger fares.

Average

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $1.70, best in a couple of weeks. It closed at $190.20, another new record high. The average was at record peaks Tuesday, slipped back $1.30 yesterday, and more than regained that loss today.

The industrial component of the average was up $1.50 at $217.30, rails were ahead $2.70 at a new high since 1929 of $146.80, and utilities were up 30 cents at $74.90.

The market was a little narrower than yesterday with 1,179 issues traded of which 565 advanced and 364 declined. There were 61 new highs and 9 new lows for 1955-56.

Volume at 2,650,000 shares was well under yesterday's 2,930,000 shares.

The American Stock Exchange was higher on volume of 1,200,000 more flattering circumstances than she is in the "car of cars"—calm, serene and rested . . . and surrounded by Cadillac's great luxury and beauty.

Mountainhome Dealer Earns Special Award

A MEETING of Texaco dealers and selling personnel of Stroudsburg area and vicinity was held yesterday at Penn Stroud Hotel. Mr. D. E. Sharpe, Zone Mgr. announced that 50 are expected to attend.

Mr. Sharpe outlined Texaco's sales promotion and advertising plans for 1956 and reviewed with the dealers the part they play in serving the motorist and supplying his ever-increasing demand for petroleum products.

A highlight of the meeting was the presentation of appreciation awards to Mr. Raymond Price, Mountainhome, who has been a Texaco dealer for 15 years.

The meeting was one of approximately 700 such gatherings being held throughout the country this Spring for the purpose of keeping Texaco dealers informed of the best methods of service station operation. The meetings are part of a year-round, continuous program offered to dealers of The Texas Company.

At the gathering yesterday, the audience saw two full-color motion pictures especially produced for Texaco dealers.

A 12 minute sound, color film on Texaco Products, with emphasis on Texaco's policy of making no statement that cannot be substantiated by facts.

The feature picture was a 28 minute sound, color film showing the true relationship between the service station dealer and the motorist. The story, entitled "A Factual Report", was told from the customer's viewpoint.

William J. Howard of 804 Thomas St., Stroudsburg and Frank Gogolinski of 78 Italy St., Mocaqua, Pa. near Wilkes-Barre recently joined the staff of Schaffer's Realty Main Office, Allentown.

Schaffer's Realty will display Homes & Log Siding Cabins at the Sportsmen Show, Farm Show Building at Harrisburg this week.

Mr. Oscar Falk, of Food Basket Super Markets announced today that his Company's newest unit, located at Broadway and Murray Streets in Bangor, brings to four the number of Super Markets now being operated by the chain.

The Market, over 5,000 square feet in size, is the newest and most modern in Northampton County, and according to Mr. Falk will serve the needs of shoppers in the Bangor, Roseto, Pen Argyl and Wind Gap areas.

Some of the features in the new Super are Magic Carpet Doors, Parcel Pick-up Service and a special Italian Food section. The fresh meat department is of the latest type and employs the use of a hostess aisle. The interior colors of the market are Green Ripple, Persimmon, Blue Eyes, Chalk Yellow and Colonial Blue. The walls are illuminated with a plastic canopy on which the various department headings are listed.

An unusual feature in the store exterior is a 45 foot size of baked enamel which is strikingly colored Scandinavian Blue, on which the letters Food Basket appear in black. At night, the letters are illuminated by three strips of pink neon tubing.

Mr. Falk said that upon opening he expects to employ 35 persons in the market.

Mr. Clarence Miller, of Flicksville, has been appointed manager of the new store.

Residential and farm customers of the Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. used 8 1/2 percent more electricity in 1955 than they did the year before, and over 38 percent more than in 1951.

These figures were released by the PP&L in its annual report to employees and stockholders.

Charles E. Oakes, president of the utility, pointed out in the report that increasing use of electric services by all classes of customers, the normal increase in numbers of customers and the serving of a larger area as a result of merger have helped send company revenues to a new high.

Increases in prices of materials and in wages, he said, were contributing factors in increasing the company's operating expenses. Taxes, too, were a major 1955 expense, amounting to $22,400,000 or 1.3 times the amount paid in dividends to the company's 94,198 shareholders.

Earnings applicable to the company's common stock outstanding at the year end were $3.02 per share, as compared with $2.88 per share for 1954. These 1955 per share earnings would have been $3.10 if effect of the merger of Pennsylvania Water & Power Co., in June of 1955, had been given for the full year. This merger and that of the Scranton Electric Co. increased PP&L's utility plant by $111 million.

Peter J. Salino, manager of the termite division of J. C. Ehrlich Co., Stroudsburg RD3, has been appointed chairman of the eastern division of the Wood Destroying Organism Committee of the Pest Control Association.

Salino has been a member of the committee ten years. The eastern division comprises 12 states, including Pennsylvania.

the termite season, and the association warns householders to be aware of unscrupulous salesmen. "Any respectable company will guarantee its work for five years," the association warns.

Academy Awards Turn Into Triumph For 'Little Guy'

By Leonard Randolph

THIS YEAR'S Academy Awards turned out to be a triumph for "the little guy" more than anything else.

A "little picture" about a "plain, ordinary butcher in the Bronx" won as top movie of the year. That was "Marty."

An actor playing his first starring role, Ernest Borgnine, was named best actor of the year.

A director who had never directed a movie—Delbert Mann—walked off with the prize for his work for "Marty."

And a quiet, little television dramatist—Paddy Chayefsky—won the prize for the best screenplay of the year, again for "Marty."

But "Marty's" story was only part of the triumph of the new names and new faces.

Grand Trouper

Italy's grand trouper, Anna Magnani, won a hands-down victory for her tormented, violently flamboyant portrait of a widowed Italian woman who was caught in the memory of her husband's stormy love in "The Rose Tattoo." It was Magnani's first Hollywood movie.

Jo Van Fleet, a Broadway actress skilled and schooled in the Actor's Studio tradition, won as "best supporting actress" for her portrayal of a rich but unrespected "fallen woman" in John Steinbeck's "East of Eden." Miss Van Fleet placed credit squarely where it belonged for her triumph—in the hands of Elia Kazan, Actor.

Studio guiding light, and director of the film for which she won.

Behind the scenes, Hollywood knew a big secret about Jo Van Fleet's big scene in "East of Eden." It was the scene in which she is confronted by her son (played by the late James Dean) in her room.

The scene—although written out in the script—was actually "improvised" at Kazan's direction. What came from Van Fleet and Dean in the scene was what each of the two actors felt should have come from the characters they were playing. It was a strikingly effective technique in that scene—and in others isolated throughout an uneven film.

Newcomer

Another comparative newcomer—Jack Lemmon—won the "best supporting actor" award. Lemmon has appeared on TV and in a half dozen Hollywood movies. Actually Lemmon's role in "Mister Roberts" was a starring role. But his studio entered him in a "supporting" category to avoid stiff competition.

Multiple winners included the following:

"Marty"—four awards, all named above.

"The Rose Tattoo"—Magnani's award for best actress; best black and white film art direction to Hal Pereira and Tambi Larsen; veteran James Wong Howe for best black and white cinematography.

"Love Is A Many-Splendored Thing"—best song, by Sammy Fain and Paul Francis Webster; best musical score for a dramatic picture, by Alfred Newman; best costume design for color, Charles LeMaire. (In the best song category a determining factor often is the exploitation value of the song in the movie's presentation to the public. Primarily because of this, "Love" won over "Unchained Melody." The latter was, by all odds, the most popular movie song written during the year.)

"Picnic"—best art direction, color, William Flannery and (screen newcomer from Broadway) Jo Meizner; best film editing, Charles Nelson and William A. Lyon.

Best Sound Recording

"Oklahoma"—best sound recording, Fred Hynes; best score for a musical picture by Robert Russell Bennett, Jay Blackton and Adolph Deutsch.

The "little guys" triumphed in two other key categories. A film biography of "Helen Keller—Her Story," won as best documentary feature. And "The Face Of Lincoln," a somber, detailed and quietly dramatic study of a sculptor doing a "face" of the late President, won as best two-reel short. It was produced on a shoestring by the University of Southern California in competition against commercial films.

The 1956 Academy Awards were notable for one other departure from tradition. That curious determining factor "sentiment" played little or no part in the awards. Sentimental choices for Oscars in the weeks before the award presentations were Susan Hayward for best actress, ("I'll Cry Tomorrow"); James Cagney for best actor ("Love Me Or Leave Me").

Both Miss Hayward and Cagney are "old timers" in Hollywood. Miss Hayward has been nominated for an Oscar four times. She hasn't got one yet.

By all odds the most "sentimental" element in this year's Oscar ceremony was the appearance of Maurice Chevalier. A movie star before the Oscars were born 28 years ago, Chevalier did a bit of "Louise," helped Jerry Lewis as M. C., and performed one of the songs ("Somethin's Gotta Give") nominated for an Oscar.

When the straw-hat boulevardier was onstage Hollywood had a field day for emotion-packed reminiscence. And the audience gave its past a full measure of devotion—even though it let the young set carry off the honors.

October 21 to November 20 (Scorpio)

Some unfriendly influences. Don't delay accomplishment of assigned duties. Be cautious, analytical if commencing something new. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

November 21 to December 20 (Sagittarius)—New ideas, properly exploited, can result in gains. Procrastination is a possible problem. Determine important items. Then concentrate on them till completed. Take worry.

December 21 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Rays similar to Scorpio. Ample diplomacy can counteract irritating tendencies. Association with family, friends relaxing.

January 21 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Benefic influences should encourage you to perform at "higher capacity" tempo. Carry out essentials with decisiveness. Live an objective worthy of your efforts.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Like Aquarius, good rays predominate. Be alert to opportunities. Finish, if possible, uncompleted tasks. Then the weekend ahead can provide some rest, relaxation.

YOU BORN TODAY are of the brainy Sign Aries (the Ram). You can achieve the things in this man's world if you venture some, too, and many of our outstanding scientists, chemists, inventors come from this zodiacal sector.

Control likes, dislikes, impetuosity, and at times a tendency to recklessness. Don't be over-sensitive to criticism. You are quick of temper but do not retain anger. Birthdate of: Johann Bach, music composer; Joan Crawford, actress.

Coal Snarls 611 Traffic

TRAFFIC was snarled for a short time Wednesday afternoon when the tailgate of a large truck opened and spilled about a ton of coal onto the highway on Route 611 near the Stroudsburg-Stroud Township line.

The situation was remedied in a short time, however, when the Highway Department sent a scraper to clear the coal off the road.

Band Concert, Caricatures At Bazaar

Two surprise attractions, not previously announced, have been scheduled for the Storybook Bazaar to be held tomorrow from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m., at the American Legion Home in East Stroudsburg. The Junior Woman's Club is sponsoring the affair for the benefit of the Day Care Training Center.

One of the features will be music by the Monroe County Band, who will play from 7 to 9 p. m. for the evening visitors. The band, comprised of 25 members, is directed by Walter Lane and is expected to be a drawing card.

The other special feature is the one of the 15 booths offering caricatures for sale. The "Mirror, Mirror on the Wall" booth will offer as its specialties caricatures of its customers. Mrs. Frances Stearns is chairman of this booth with Mrs. Donna Hornbrook assisting.

Included in the other booths not previously mentioned is the "Curliclocks" booth where Eleanor Regan and Betty Gorton, chairman, has arranged to have many fine hand-sewn articles made by the Junior and Senior Women and their friends; "Polly Put the Kettle On" with a Jeanne Graham as chairman, will feature aprons, useful and gay, and the "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary" booth with children's corsages and potted plants, including violets. Velma Evans is chairman.

Members of the Junior Woman's Club, and their husbands, will be busy today making final preparations for the bazaar and transforming the American Legion Home auditorium into a Storybook Land.

AAUW To Meet At Edwards' Home

There is not only a change in date but a change in meeting place for the American Association of University Women for their April meeting.

The meeting will be held Monday, April 9, instead of the first Monday, and it will be held at the home of Mrs. Harold C. Edwards, Club Court, instead of at the YMCA. It is scheduled for 8 p. m.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Never be it said that I was the last by whom the new was tried, including the new green traffic tickets in Stroudsburg. While I tried to pretend I'd collected it in the interest of reportorial information, the real truth was that I got it because neither my team nor our opponents bowled enough strikes.

With a normal number of strikes we can finish under the two-hour parking limit, but not yesterday. However the social news sort of makes up for the bad bowling.

Like the enthusiasm that Married Couples class feels for the new house they're getting ready for their displaced persons. Since their first experiment worked out so happily for all concerned, they are really letting themselves go, with no reservations on this one.

"These beautiful people," one of the family remarked the other day, "I can still remember every thing they had waiting for us when we arrived."

These beautiful programs, too, might be tag to be applied to that Easter program which the Woman's Club worked up for their own program. It's been repeated twice, now, to my knowledge, and each time most impressively.

I've often thought that some of these programs on which so much thought and time and effort have been spent could well bear repeating instead of benefiting just one group.

AND AWAY WE GO — Breezes tearing across New York's International Airport at Idlewild played havoc with hairdos and hats as a group of sixteen Monroe Countians and friends from nearby states boarded Air France's "The Parisian" for Mexico City. Those who braved the nippy gusts to pose for Air France's photographers were, left to right: Leslie Hunter, manager of the Wyckoff-Sears store at Newton, N. J.; Edna Brockman, head of the Wyckoff Travel Bureau which sponsored the trip; Miss Jane Price of Mountainhome; Mrs. Hunter, and Mrs. Ma the Wyckoff.

Local Trippers Back From Mexico Into County's Snow

The snow-covered ski runs of the Poconos were a surprise to a group of sixteen Monroe Countians and friends from adjacent counties who returned this week from eleven days in sunny, warm Mexico. Arriving home via Air France, the travellers were totally unprepared for the blizzard, which made possible sports far afield from the swimming and deep sea fishing which were favorite pastimes during their visit South of the Border.

In the party were Miss Jane Price and Mrs. Ida Shafer, Mountainhome; Mrs. Nelson Frantz, Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Albert, Mrs. Martha Wyckoff, Mrs. Carl Albertson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Wyckoff, and Mrs. Margaret Hunter, of Stroudsburg; Mrs. Edna Brockman, Delaware Water Gap; Mrs. Isabelle Demarest, Culver's Lake, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hunter, Newton, N.J.; Mrs. Blonidine Taylor and Mrs. Maria Cuddeback, of Port Jervis, N.Y.

The flight was non-stop to Mexico City where sightseeing was enjoyed. Private cars with Spanish and English-speaking guides then accompanied the tourists to Taxco, a city noted for its fine silver; Lake Patzcuaro, where fishing is the principal industry; the famous spa of San Jose Perua, and the resort city of Acapulco on the Pacific. Arrangements were made through the Wyckoff Travel Bureau.

Egg-Dyeing Parties Can Be Tidy, Too

Every child loves to color Easter eggs, and finds this almost as exciting as hunting them the next morning. And every mother is prepared for a paint-smeared kitchen afterward, looking forward with something less than joy to the annual chore of mopping up those bright, indelible egg dyes from table tops.

A little foresight, however, will prevent much of the colorful splatter. If Mom will lay in a supply of paper plates, she can add to the children's fun and save herself a lot of work. Paper plates under the dye cups will protect the table. Absorbent plates can be used to hold the colored eggs until they dry.

Gaily decorated paper plates, too, make colorful Easter baskets, easy to make. Just fold plates into basket shape, with patterned side out, fastened with staples or tape, and staple paper handles into place. Handles may be cut out of other plates, or may be plain cardboard, wound with ribbon or colored tape.

Jamaica, in the British West Indies, produces 194 species of orchids.

Women's Aux. Has Easter Story In Words And Music

The Woman's Auxiliary of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church heard the Easter story in words and music as interpreted by a group presented by Mrs. Clifford Cramer at their meeting on Wednesday night.

With Mrs. Edward Rahn and Mrs. James Morgan as narrators; Mrs. Harold Hosier and Mrs. Loreing Cramer as soloists, and Mrs. Kennard Lewis as pianist, the devotional service was given.

Mrs. Nathan Meyers, vice president, presided at the meeting. Lydia Circle with Mrs. Douglas Barhight and Mrs. William Crooks as co-chairmen was the hostess circle.

Loyal Helpers Are Guests Of Mrs. Pooley

Loyal Helpers of the Fifth Street Mission met at the home of Mrs. Herbert Pooley last Friday night. Devotions, reports and class business was on the agenda.

Refreshments and television were enjoyed after the meeting. Present were Dorothy Neipert, Abbie Jane Frisbe, Joan Lake, Mary Ann Jennings, Mrs. Herbert Pooley, Sandra Mader, and Charmaine Strunk, a new member.

Saturday should be a busy day in the Stroudsburg, for at least two events of widespread interest will draw sightseers to this area. First of all there will be the Antique Automobile Show from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. in front of our Wyckoff store; and second, the Storybook Bazaar of the Junior Woman's Club at the American Legion home from 11 a. m. until 9 p. m.

It will certainly be a day of memories . . . a day that will take some persons back to the year 1961 and the amazing "horseless carriages" that bumped and swayed over the winding byways of a peaceful, rural county . . . a day that will take those of us not quite so old back to the memorable yesterdays when, mugged safely in Mothers' arms, we entered, time and again, the bewitching portals of Make-Believe Land to meet Mother Goose, Simple Simon, Jack Spratt, and all those other immortals-who-never-were.

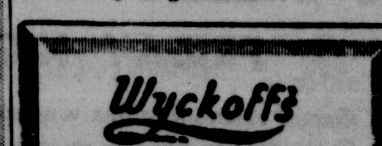

I most sincerely hope that our store is bustling and busy on Saturday. Everyone's been brightly gallant about it—but the fact remains that the blizzard didn't do a thing to help our hardworking salespeople meet their 81st Anniversary contest quotas. And we know that a great many customers are feeling badly because they were unable to come in during the early days of our sale. I hope too that the Junior Women will do a land office business at their Storybook Bazaar. The girls have worked just as hard to plan and promote this event as our executives and department heads have worked for our big promotion . . . and they have an objective that is undeniably worthy of everyone's support. The funds raised at the bazaar will benefit the Day Care Training Center for Retarded and Physically Handicapped Children, which suffered much loss of equipment as a result of last August 18th's flood.

When you visit the bazaar, you will be greeted by Mother Goose . . . and you'll have the opportunity to meet many characters of Storybook Land, brilliantly costumed for the occasion. You will even have the opportunity to participate in the grab bag to which celebrities such as Eddie Fisher, Governor Leader, Perry Como, Dinah Shore, and Arthur Godfrey have contributed mysterious and fascinating parcels.

We at Wyckoff's feel it is our duty—a most pleasant one at that—to urge your support of the Junior Women in their philanthropy. Our store has a greater obligation than just serving the public through the sale of merchandise, selected to please your family in accordance with its budget. It has the equally great obligation of any thriving local enterprise—the obligation to work in a general way for the common good of everyone in this area.

So . . . remember that Saturday is a day when you can have fun—and when you can share that fun with your children. They'll love greeting the Easter Bunny . . . eating refreshments at an out-of-this-world booth in an out-of-this-world land . . . and seeing Mother Goose herself. YOU will love aiding other little folks, perhaps less fortunate than your own, and seeing the sparkle in the eyes of your "special" girl or boy.

When you come to town for this big adventure, bring Grandma and Grandpa with you. While you roam Storybook Land, let them visit the Antique Automobile Show and Wyckoff's. Let's make Saturday a day of pleasure . . . a day of Family Togetherness!

Sports Trail - -

By Whitney Martin

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Grapefruit Juice:

Joe Collins, who usually winds up playing first base for the New York Yankees after everyone else gets a shot at the job, was shunted to centerfield for a few games while Mickey Mantle was indisposed, and thought it was a cinch.

"When I was with Newark in 1948," he says, "I played centerfield with Lou Novikoff on one side of me and a fellow named Ted Seppowski on the other. On every ball hit to the outfield I'd hear them both yell, 'Take it, Joe.' I made practically every catch." Mantle wanted to get back in the lineup quickly, but Casey Stengel had his doubts. "Every time he runs he thinks he has to break the 100-yard dash record," he explained.

Stengel Comments

The same Stengel, commenting on stout-legged pitchers: "They can run and run until their legs fall off but if they can't get out there and get the ball over the plate what good does it do them?"

Frank Lane, Cardinal general manager, after a voice from the virtually unpopulated stands had yelled at the umpiring during a "B" team game: "The crowd certainly gave the ump the dickens, didn't he?"

Herman Was Smart

Fresno Thompson, Dodger vice-president, telling of the time Babe Herman caught a fly ball in the ninth inning, stuck it in his pocket, and ran for the clubhouse. A fine play, only there was only one out. "They poke fun at Herman as a dumb ball player," he said, "but I'll tell you how dumb he was. He bought a turkey farm, and that year there were two Thanksgiving.

Keep Eye On Flowers

Keep an eye on a Cardinal pitcher named Ben Flowers. We watched him pitch four innings of no-hit, no-run, no-man-to-first ball against the Yankees, with only one ball going to the outfield. He's a tall lanky 28-year-old with a variety of stuff. He was with Detroit briefly last year before going to Buffalo, and hence to the Cards late in the season. Big Turkey still throws bullets. In the general direction of the plate. Billy Pierce has been throwing as hard as any chucker we've observed down in these parts.

Likes Cardinals

Frank Lane liked the Cardinal squad he inherited better than the White Sox squad he developed. Says if the two teams were playing the same league the Cards would finish ahead of the Chicago club. Inasmuch as the Cardinals finished 7th last year and the Sox second, does that mean that the National League is a stronger league than the American? "Yes," he said. "It's stronger down the line." Being a National Leaguer now that wouldn't have anything to do with his opinion would it?

International Walk

The American League has a spring rule that a pitcher, instead of throwing four balls for an intentional pass, can just announce his intention and the batter is awarded first base. Saves time, but cheats the fans of a chance to boo on each pitch. Don't get too excited over the prospects of fast games.

Forget the Grapefruit League standings. Remember, the Pirates led the standings last year with 19 wins in 30 games with major league competition.

Williams Hurt But Not Seriously

SARASOTA, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Trainer Jack Fadden of the Boston Red Sox said today slugger Ted Williams has aggravated a pulled muscle in his groin but should be able to play in exhibition games again "in a day or so."

The injury "is not serious but players of his age (37) do not snap back as they would have 15 years earlier," Fadden said.

He described Williams as "anxious to play."

Varsity 'E' Favors Pool For School

VARSITY "E" Club of East Stroudsburg went on official record last night in favoring a swimming pool for the proposed new East Stroudsburg joint high school.

Meeting at the Stroud Manor, Anasomink, the Varsity "E" membership endorsed a motion urging the instituting of a swimming pool in the proposed building plans.

The group also furthered plans on the concert featuring the Tulsa University Mixed Chorus which will be held at the East Stroudsburg Junior High School auditorium, Thursday night, April 12.

The concert, slated to get under way at 8:15 p.m., is one of the top projects undertaken by the Varsity "E" organization this year.

Bonus New Fund
In other business, action was started by the unit to set up a scholarship fund. Further discussion on the proposed scholastic award will be made at later meetings.

President Joseph Peretti was in charge of the session.

Little League At Milestone At Big Parley

CHICAGO, March 22 (AP)—Little League baseball, which has been going places in recent years, reached a milestone today.

This division of baseball has grown in 17 years to include about 4,000 Little Leagues in the United States and Canada and to embrace 500,000 boys aged 10 to 12.

And today the first annual national congress opened.

New Official Song
Delegates—180 of them elected to represent leagues across the country—filled in and sat down, row on row, to the lilting strains of their new official song.

The tune, titled "Little League" and authored by Art Kassel, longtime band leader, includes this bit of lyric:

"Then he'll hitch up his britches. 'Take one of the pitches. 'And, wham, it's over the fence.'"

Hailed by McGovern
Peter J. McGovern, of Williamsport, Pa., president of Little League Baseball Inc., called the assembly "a real milestone."

He said that, if the growth of the last five years is projected 10 years into the future, "We will have 30,000 Little Leagues in this country."

NBA Semi-Finals Will Open Today

The clubs will return to Philadelphia on Tuesday, play the fourth game if necessary at Syracuse on Wednesday. The fifth game is booked for Philadelphia Thursday night, March 29.

St. Louis and Fort Wayne are the opponents in the Western Division semifinal round.

Game Losses Light By Dogs And Hunger

A MINIMUM of game died in Monroe County this winter because of starvation and dogs—although heavy losses were caused in the Northcentral section of the state.

"Food was scarce but there was enough to carry over the deer," said John Doebbing, game protector for the county's 10 lower townships.

Doebbing said he put out about 15 tons of feed this winter and has on the situation for the last two months.

Four Killed By Dogs
"About four deer were killed by dogs," said Doebbing. "But that's about normal."

"Things look very optimistic," he added. Meanwhile, at Mount Pocono, Game Protector John Spencer disclosed he had had "no trouble" this winter.

Maintaining Feeders
He said he has been maintaining eight to 10 turkey feeders, in addition to distributing food for the deer. All told, between 15 to 18 tons of feed were used in his district.

"The feeders were well filled before the last two snow storms and the deer are in good condition," he added.

However, game protectors in the Northcentral Division of the Commonwealth reported that this has been a very hard winter for game in their section of the state.

Bushkill Nine Prepares For 1956 Campaign

BUSHKILL, an entry in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League, announced last night that a 20-player roster is ready to start drills for the 1956 campaign.

Meeting at Lantz Stroud, East Stroudsburg, Bushkill officials disclosed that the team is dickering with aides of a Bi-State League nine for an exhibition game Sunday, April 22.

In other action, team officers reported that all new equipment will be bought for use this year. And that a new fence will be constructed around the Bushkill ballpark.

Seek Drill Field
Club aides, however, are still seeking a practice diamond for workouts prior to the start of the Pocono Mountain schedule.

Besecker's Bow In Newton Play

NEWTON—Al Besecker's Diner was eliminated from further play in the Newton Invitational Basketball Tournament as Allied Cement of Dover, N. J., scored a 102-86 victory over the locals here last night.

The Jersey team, sporting a much taller quintet, grabbed an early lead and held on for the victory.

Despite the loss, Besecker's Cub Possinger put on a topflight show in a losing cause. The ex-Stroudsburg High player tossed in 39 points and grabbed a good share of his team's rebounds.

The Orioles have had the helmets available all along, but Richards has left it up to the individual whether he wants to wear one.

Phils Are Mystery Club; Camp Devoid Of Whiz Kids

CLEARWATER, Fla., (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies all of a sudden are the mystery club of the National League—make that both leagues. Their camp is devoid of Whiz Kids. That's part of the mystery. The other mystery is that they finished fourth.

Despite fine efforts by Roberts, Stan Lopata, Richie Ashburn, Del Ennis and rookie relief pitcher Jack Meyer they are faced with too many disappointments, in the records, of young players coming up from the minor leagues.

They have gone to veterans and castoffs to help a sagging situation as witness some of the new players—Marino Pierotti, 34, obtained on a conditional basis from Sacramento; Wally Westlake, 35, a 246 hitter with four teams last year, and Frank Baumholtz, a 36-year-old outfielder cast adrift by the Cubs. They also have Ron Negray, ex-Dodger, and Saul Rogovin, ex-Oriole.

Carpenter Worried
President Bob Carpenter has about 4½ million dollars invested in the Phillies and he looks plaintively worried about the situation. Probably his biggest prospect is first baseman Ed Bouchee, up from Schenectady where he hit Class A pitching for .313. But he is at least one year away. He's a 200-pound young youth of 23 with less than two years of baseball.

"We have some young pitchers who can throw, fellows who throw as hard as Roberts and Simmons threw when they first came up," says Carpenter. "They are Dallas Green, 22, University of Delaware star; Seth Morehead, 21 (8-13 at Syracuse); Jim Owens (15-11 at Syracuse); and Gene Snyder (1-6 at Schenectady). It is just a question of when they will deliver."

Meyer Produces
Jack Meyer, who had a 6-11 record last year but saved 22 games in relief, actually is the only one who has produced for the Phillies in the last six years. But even he, after coming up from Syracuse with a fine record, failed in five starts last year and, as a last resort, became a relief man.

"Injuries hurt us," says General Manager Roy Hamey. "This spring we are in much better shape. I will be disappointed if we don't finish at least third."

"If Stan Lopata makes it at first base and Ted Kazanski takes over second base, enabling Granny Hamner to return to short where he belongs, we'll be in the pennant race."

Nevertheless the Phillies, who got off to a horrible start a year ago, are a mystery. They need at least two strong pitchers to help Roberts. They could finish anywhere from third to sixth.

Dons Record 54th; To Meet Iowa For Title

EVANSTON, Ill., March 22 (AP)—San Francisco's defending champion Dons led a 21-point lead melt to six points, but eventually ground to their 54th straight victory with an 86-68 decision over scrappy Southern Methodist in the semifinals of the NCAA basketball tournament tonight.

In the other semifinal, Big Ten champion Iowa got a scare but beat the Owls, 83-76, and will meet the Dons for the NCAA crown tomorrow night.

A capacity McGraw Field House crowd of 10,500 wildly cheered the underdog Mustangs of SMU, hoping for an upset when the Southwest Conference champs shaved San Francisco's lead to 46-40 early in the second half.

But the Dons who had surged in front by a 21-point margin at 38-17 in the first half were not to be denied their 28th straight victory this season.

Southern Methodist, led by 6-8 Jim Krebs, who scored 24 points, thus had a 19-game winning streak broken and suffered its third loss against 25 victories this season.

The Dons, who have played better basketball this season, were paced by 6-7 Mike Farmer, who tallied 26 points, 18 coming in the runaway first half which ended with Frisco ahead 44-32.

SMU and Temple will meet in the consolation game.

Lear Shines But Owls Bow To Iowa 83-76

EVANSTON, Ill., March 22 (AP)—Iowa's Hawkeyes withstood a tremendous second-half show by Temple's Hal (King) Lear and edged the Owls, 83-76, in their eastern semifinal game of the NCAA basketball tournament tonight.

San Francisco's defending champion Dons met Southern Methodist in the western semifinal before a capacity 10,500 at McGraw Memorial Hall in the second game.

Lear popped in 32 points, 24 coming in the last half, and with five minutes of the game left rammed in four straight baskets which trimmed Iowa's lead to four points, 74-70.

Solves Zone
However, Temple's zone defense couldn't contain Iowa's 6-6 Bill Logan, who was the game's high scorer with 36 points. Logan got 24 points in the first half which ended 39-36 in Iowa's favor.

The lead changed six times and the score was tied six times before Iowa finally got the game under control by a 12-point margin, 56-44, after the first seven minutes of the second half.

Temple's great fast-charging, hot-shooting duo of Lear and Guy Rodgers lived up to all advance billings by scoring 60 of the Owls' 76 points.

Rodgers Taps 25
Rodgers kept the Owls going with 18 of his 28 points total coming in the first half.

Lear, extending his season mark to 29-5, performed steadily, if not brilliantly, against Temple, which suffered its third defeat against 26 victories for the campaign.

The Hawkeyes, who were knocked out of last year's NCAA semifinals by LaSalle, had some difficulty penetrating Temple's zone defense. But while outscored from the field, 35-29, the Hawkeyes made good on 25 of 38 free throws. Temple tallied only 6 of 17 free throws.

The Hawkeyes had to play more than 27 minutes without their star guard, Sharm Sheuerman, who was injured with the first half less than seven minutes old.

Oust St. Joe, St. Francis In Semi-Finals

By Hugh Fullerton Jr.

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Dayton finally got a first rate performance from "Goliath" Bill Uhl on the Madison Square Garden court last night and routed St. Francis of Brooklyn 89-58 in the semi-finals of the National Invitation basketball tournament.

Dayton will meet Louisville, 89-79 winner over St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, in Saturday's final.

Top seeded Dayton, an NIT finalist for the fourth time in five attempts but never a winner so far, and second ranked Louisville will play for a nationwide television audience. St. Joseph's and St. Francis will clash in a consolation game.

High In Rankings
Both finalists are ranked among the nation's top 10 college teams. Dayton was third in the final Associated Press ranking poll, and Louisville sixth.

In the long run, it was height that paid off for both winners. Louisville got a fine performance from 6-8 Charley Tyra who scored 29 points, and Uhl and 6-8 Jim Palmer were able to dominate the smaller St. Francis team.

Bill Uhl Stars

Uhl didn't threaten any scoring records, but 16.125 Garden fans got an idea of how good the seven-footer can be at times. He tallied 13 points before retiring with 12 minutes to go, passed off frequently, defended well against St. Francis' sophomore Al Inniss and grabbed his share of rebounds. Palmer, specializing in tap-ins, and Jim Paxson each scored 18 points for Dayton.

Tony D'Elia, getting most of his points late in the game, led St. Francis with 16, four more than Inniss.

Dayton led 38-22 at the half. It was the first time in five invitation tournaments that Louisville had reached the final and for a while it looked as though it would be one of the easiest victories the tournament had seen in its 19 runnings. But St. Joseph's, after falling 22 points behind early in the second half, turned on its speed, defended more aggressively and made a game of it.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Stubby Billy Maxwell and slender Gardner Dickinson Jr. slashed eight shots off par today with superb 64s and stepped out to a joint three-stroke lead in the first round of the Miami Beach Open golf tournament.

Maxwell's 33-31 and Dickinson's 34-30 matched the record for the Bayshore Club course with its par of 36-36-72 stretched over 6,577 yards. ## Snider's Blast With 2 Aboard Downs Detroit

LAKELAND, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Duke Snider broke up a pitcher's battle with a three run homer today and the Brooklyn Dodgers won their fourth straight exhibition game from the Detroit Tigers, 4-2.

Snider's blast, with Don Zimmer and Charley Neal on base, came in the seventh inning off Al Aber. Earlier in the same inning the Dodgers collected their other run when Gino Cimoli romped in from third after a long foul by Chico Fernandez was caught in deep right.

Porter Hits One
The Tigers had grabbed a 2-0 lead in the sixth on a home run by J. W. Porter after Jim Delsing had walked.

Humez Choice To Top Jones In TVer Today

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Charley Humez, French holder of the European middleweight crown, opens his U.S. bid for a shot at the world title tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden when he meets Ralph (Tiger) Jones, the spoiler of the 160-pound class.

On the strength of his unbeaten streak of 17, his reputation overseas, and his apparent know how in gym workouts here, the battle-worn Humez, 28, has been made the 8-5 favorite.

The nation's boxing fans will get a chance to evaluate Humez (pronounced You-metz) via the coast to coast telecast and broadcast (NBC TV-radio, 10 p.m. EST).

Jones Ranks 8th
Jones, of Yonkers, N.Y., also is 28, experienced and ranked the No. 8 contender. Humez is No. 2 behind ex-champion Carl (Bobo) Olson.

Humez' pro record is 55-4-1 with 41 knockouts.
Jones' record is 34-3-3 with 11 KOs.

Zauchin's Hit Gives Boston 2-1 Triumph

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Norm Zauchin's ninth inning pinch-single scored Jim Piersall and gave the Boston Red Sox a 2-1 victory today over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Sox had to come from behind with runs in the eighth and ninth. Zauchin's single came after two batters had been retired. Dick Groat put Pittsburgh out front with a seventh inning single that scored Dan Kravitz.

Friend Hurts 7
Bob Friend, hurled seven full innings for the pirates—the longest for any Pirate pitcher in spring training—and gave up four hits. Frank Sullivan, Boston's starting pitcher, gave up five hits but ran his scoreless innings total to 12 before stepping out in the sixth.

8 Ex-Big Loop Mound Aces Hope To Return This Year

By FRANK ECK
AP Features Sports Editor
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Florida baseball camps are loaded this spring with front line or former top pitchers who are hoping to make comebacks. Eight who were raves of another season are starting all over again and all they can do is hope until the heavy firing starts.

Little Bobby Shantz, the 138-pound left hander who won 24 games for the 1952 Philadelphia Athletics, is one ex-star many baseball people are rooting for. Bobby, he's only 5 feet 6½, has been so disappointed in his arm the last three years that he refuses to be quoted about his comeback.

But he keeps on trying. He has been told not to toss a ball with emphasis until he feels ready. He won only five games in 1955, completing four. He's 30 now and this may be his tentatle year with Lou Boudreau's Kansas City Athletics.

Aggies Given Nod To Retain NCAA Mat Title

STILLWATER, Okla., March 22 (AP)—The Oklahoma Aggies, who have had a strangle hold on the NCAA wrestling title since national tournaments were started in 1928, are favored to take the title again in the 26th annual meet to-morrow and Saturday.

Host A&M has won 18 titles including the last two straight under Coach Art Griffith. Back in 1946, the tournament was held here and the Aggies were first, 25-24, just a point ahead of Iowa Teachers.

Two new records are sure to be set during the 2-day meet.

Entry List at 200
The entry list already has topped 200, better than the record 181 set last year.

And here in Aggieland, where collegiate wrestling draws as many spectators as a county fair stock show, a new attendance record is expected to top the 15,000 at Cornell last year. In a single dual match here this year, 8,200 turned out to watch the Aggies and cross-state rival Oklahoma battle.

Team Unbeaten
The Aggies are undefeated in the last three years on dual meets but Oklahoma has tied A&M twice this season, and by identical scores, 13-12.

Oklahoma is seen as the top contender followed closely by Pitt, Penn State, Michigan and Iowa.

The shortest player in the American League is Washington outfielder Ernie Orelavets at 5-4.

GETS RUBDOWN — Farris Fain, former American League with the Philadelphia Athletics, Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox, gets rubdown prior to starting new role as player coach with Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League. Fain, ex-junior circuit batting champ, signed up with the Solons this spring after being cut loose by the Tigers last season.

Cardinal HRS Upend Yanks; Turley Belted

ST. PETERSBURG, March 22 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals used four home runs to walloop the New York Yankees 7-5 today. Red Schoendienst, Wally Moon, Stan Musial and rookie catcher Bob Rand socked the circuits, each with the bases empty.

The crowd of 3,748 saw Bob Turley take his third successive pounding of the spring, all by the Yankees. Rand's homer was an inside the park circuit and caused an injury to Norm Siebern, rookie leftfielder of the Yankees. Siebern crashed into the concrete wall in left-center, sustaining bruises and abrasions of both knees.

Net Aspirants Get Schooling At Lamar Tech

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Lamar Tech's tennis squad looks like the United Nations these days. There are players from Brazil, Greece, Chile and Mexico to supplement a few from Texas.

The coming of the foreign stars has built Tech into a power. The tennis squad has won the Lone Star Conference championship four years in a row. Last season it had a record of 18-1 and won the National Intercollegiate title as well.

The only loss suffered was to Tulane. In the other 18 matches only one point was scored against the Cardinals. That was by the University of Houston, which lost 5-1 to Tech.

Beat Lew Head
Ronald Moreira of Rio de Janeiro, who was captain of the Brazilian Davis Cup team and who was the only man to beat Australia's Lew Head in the 1955 Davis Cup matches; Rafael Reyes and Alfredo Robles of Mexico City and Guillermo Lemus of Tampico, Mexico, were on the team last year.

They will be joined this month by Pedro Bueno of Sao Paulo, Brazil, the South American junior champion; Eugenio Saller, Brazilian Davis Cupper of 1951 and 1952; Constantinos Gryzargides of Greece, the Greek junior champion of 1953, and Ivan Salas-Yessen of Santiago, Chile, a transfer from the University of Chile who also is a former South American junior champion.

Only Two Texans
James Schmidt, former Texas schoolboy singles champion, and Paul Wilkins, also a former Texas schoolboy king, are the Texans on the squad. Schmidt was NAIA singles champion.

Rabe, Double No-Hit Kid In Minor Loop, Expected To Give Reds Mound Corps Lift

By WALTER L. JOHNS
CPA Sports Editor

THEY HAVE another double no-hit kid on the Cincinnati Reds roster this year and while Charlie Rabe didn't throw his consecutive games in the majors in the Johnny Vander Meer manner, he did perform the unusual feat in organized baseball.

Rabe, described by Bill Terry, president of the South Atlantic league where Rabe started last year, as "one of the finest young pitching prospects I've ever seen," hopes to stick with the Reds this year. "If I work hard, I feel I can make it," he says in his quiet way. And he may, too, for the Reds need pitching.

Slim Leftlander
Charlie Rabe is 23 years old, slim in build and throws 'em from the port side. He's had just two years in pro ball although he did pitch for the Second Army team while in the service at Fort Knox, Ky. His double no-hit effort came after the Reds had picked him up when the St. Louis Browns dropped him after he had shown wildness while pitching for Ada in the Class D Sooner State loop in 1952.

On a Friday in June, Rabe took over the Lawton pitching assignment in the second inning against Ardmore and twirled nine hitless innings as his team won, 4 to 3, in 10 frames. The following Tuesday, Charlie pitched a no-hitter over Ardmore to win another.

Grid Player Also
A native of Texas, Rabe went to Waxahachie high school where he was the team's outstanding pitcher in his first two years and an end on the football team. He injured his shoulder in football in his second year and didn't play the grid sport anymore. During the summers he played semi-pro ball at Itasca, Tex.

Paul Richards, the big leaguer who put Waxahachie on the baseball map, signed Rabe in high school but the signing was ruled illegal.

Quits Brooklyn
Next, the Brooklyn Dodgers put their finger on him and he was sent to their Vero Beach training camp early in 1952. He worked out a week there, felt that the organization was too big and he returned home.
